

ASSESSMENT # 3

Total Marks: 30

Q.1. Short Questions:

(18)

- i. When planning a space in interior design scheme, why it is important to establish the purpose for which it will be used?
- ii. If all the rooms in a house are painted using the same colour scheme, it will give the perception of more space. Why?
- iii. If one flooring style is used for all adjoining rooms on the same floor, what effect will this have on the perception of space?
- iv. An attractive window treatment that sits well within the window frame could be a perfect solution for a small space. Why?
- v. There are certain techniques/tricks that can be used to make a small room appear larger. Provide at least three examples of these techniques.

Q.2. How can social islands be created in a large living room? What is the purpose of their creation?

(06)

Case Study

(06)

Lucy wants to redecorate her house. It is a spacious four-bedroom house with a large living room. The living room is L-shaped, but at the same time it is too big for her tastes and has a high ceiling. One corner of the room is very dark as there is only one large window in the room, which is not enough to light the whole room properly. How could Lucy's problems be solved by focusing attention on each of the following?

1. ceilings
2. walls
3. dark corner

Also, suggest suitable flooring and window treatments for her living room.